Present an evening with

Christine Walkden

Wednesday April 11th 2012 at 7.30 pm

talk on

Herbaceous borders and their plants

Christine has been a horticulturist since the age of ten when she first obtained an allotment and started growing vegetables and flowers, which she sold to her school teachers and local residents.

On leaving school her first job was with a local parks department before going to the Lancashire College of Agriculture.

A major change followed when she decided to go freelance working as a Plants woman and horticulturist, lecturing nationally and internationally. She was a past presenter on BBC's Gardeners World and presenter of two of her own series on BBC 2 TV 'Christine's Garden', she also broadcasts on Local and National Radio and is a past winner of the Garden Writers' Guild Radio Broadcasting Award. She is also a BBC Radio 4 Gardener's Question Time panellist.
